Bleeding Spirits

by Robert Jewell

At 17, Jewell found himself in Vietnam, carrying an M-16 at the start of the Tet Offensive. Exposed to the horrors and complexities of war, he began his journey to reconcile these experiences with his civilian life. This memoir is an honest, raw, and moving testament to Jewell's belief that the events of life "are our teachers." Jewell would survive the war and become a respected teacher himself, educating generations of youth. Bleeding Spirits is a window into the workings of war and its warriors, and an inspirational story of the struggle and beauty involved in the search for a sense of peace.

For the Love of Birds

The Illustrations of Jane Shull Beasley

by Jane Shull Beasley

Looking back at renowned artist Jane Shull Beasley's lifetime, we see a theme of birds and nature: birding with her father as a young girl, flying an airplane at fifteen years of age, sculpting animals and people, sharing her love of art and nature with her children and grandchildren, creating clay nature fragments, founding the store Birds & Beasleys, and drawing the birds, flowers, and butterflies in this collection. This book is a beautiful compilation of birds that reflect not only her talent, but her ability to see beauty and her appreciation for the wonders of nature.

The Frank Smith Story

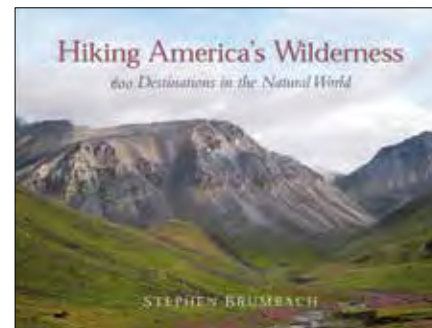

I Always Wanted to Build Things

by Robert Nehls with Stephen Coombs

You are invited on a journey, from birth to present, of the can-do spirit of Frank Smith. He traveled the long road that ultimately led to the American dream as he worked his way into the forest industry to become the world's leading designer and manufacturer of off-road lowboy trailers for open pit mines. He also invented the revolutionary TowHaul Removing Gooseneck that can haul the lowboy as well as tow a disabled haul truck for the mines. The inspiring story that lies between, through, and beyond these events is one of courage, compassion, and commitment to the fundamental philosophical principals that guide Frank Smith and the enterprises he has founded.

Bleeding Spirits

by Robert Jewell

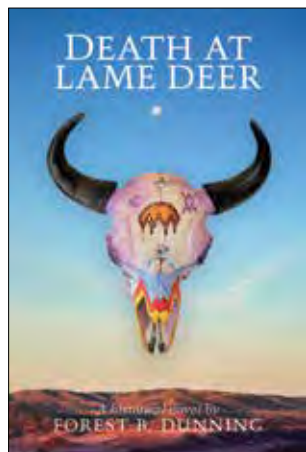

At 17, Jewell found himself in Vietnam, carrying an M-16 at the start of the Tet Offensive. Exposed to the horrors and complexities of war, he began his journey to reconcile these experiences with his civilian life. This memoir is an honest, raw, and moving testament to Jewell's belief that the events of life "are our teachers." Jewell would survive the war and become a respected teacher himself, educating generations of youth. Bleeding Spirits is a window into the workings of war and its warriors, and an inspirational story of the struggle and beauty involved in the search for a sense of peace.

Death at Lane Deer

by Forest B. Dunning

Corruption within the Bureau of Indian Affairs, mismanagement of funds and resources, and a shortage of wild game lead to an act of desperation. Hungry Cheyenne hunters leave their reservation to poach settlers' cattle and a white man is killed. A young mixed-blood interpreter is deputized by a group of prominent white Montanans and the Custer County sheriff to collect information about the Cheyenne. Using his knowledge of both cultures and languages, he begins uncovering clues, and in the process discovers a gang of white outlaws hiding out on the reservation. Simmering tensions boil over, leading to a violent clash between the U.S. Army and the Northern Cheyenne.

East of the East Side

A True Story

by Christy Leskovar

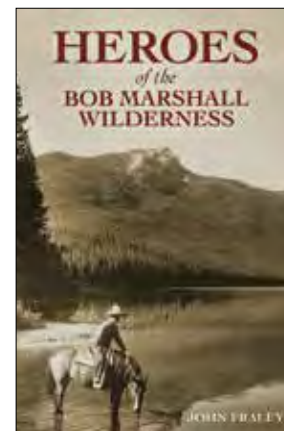

The true story of a Slovenian peasant boy who becomes a concert bassoonist and must flee Paris when the First World War begins, a Viennese kitchen maid who receives money from a mysterious benefactor and off she goes to America, a scrappy gold prospector who faces off against one of the most powerful men in the state, and a girl who grows up in a Wild West saloon. Follow their journeys as they intersect from peasant farms in Austria to Imperial Vienna and the glittering Paris opera, to the American West—the fledgling Montana smelter town of East Helena, the Flathead Indian Reservation, the notorious copper metropolis of Butte, the Slavic enclave of East Butte, and the fertile desert of eastern Washington.

Beautiful Backbars Under the Big Sky!

by Paul Snyder

As a young child, author Paul Snyder became intrigued with his local establishment's large ornate backbar. This led him to delve further into researching backbars, the backbone of Montana's historic watering holes. He felt compelled to capture as much history—and many photographs—as possible of the backbars remaining. These backbars influenced and are part of the development of Montana even before it became a state. This book takes a close look at these beautiful, often overlooked, silent witnesses to Montana's history.

Journeys to the Land of Gold

Emigrant Diaries from the Bozeman Trail, 1863-1866

edited by Susan Badger Doyle foreword by Charles E. Rankin afterward by Elliott West

Collected here for the first time ever are the surviving eyewitness accounts of the Bozeman Trail's civilian emigrants: twenty-four diaries written during the journey and nine reminiscences prepared afterward. These accounts describe life on the West's last great emigrant trail, the shortcut from the Platte River Road to the Montana goldfields, from 1863 until 1866, when the route was closed by "Red Cloud's War."

Montana Mainstreets, Volume 1

A Guide to Historic Virginia City

by Marilyn Grant
preface by Paul Putz afterword by John D. Ellingsen

The gold-rush-era town of Virginia City was Montana's acting territorial capital and the center of trade for Alder Gulch, the site of the richest placer mines in the world, but it became a town almost frozen in time once gold deposits played out and the state capital moved to Helena in 1889. Today, Virginia City attracts visitors from all over the world who marvel at its intact architecture.

Searching for Yellowstone

Ecology and Wonder in the Last Wilderness

by Paul Schullery

In 1997 Yellowstone celebrated its 125th anniversary as a national park, the keystone in the federal system of reserved and protected places. The celebration was somewhat marred by debates over wolf reintroduction, road improvement, resort building, and "bioprospecting," the search for economically useful plant materials. Schullery, a longtime resident and student of the park, tells us that such debates are not new.

Introductory Essay by Todd Wilkinson

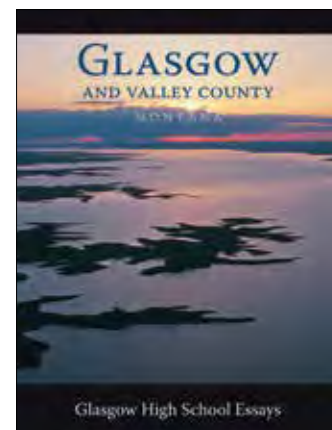

This collection of works from the iconic artist Monte Dolack contains paintings spanning the last two decades. Known for his distinct style that has drawn admirers worldwide, Dolack selected this collection to encompass the beauty, whimsy, and ironic twists that make his work legendary.

Join in this celebration of Dolack's passion for nature, wildlife, and unspoiled landscapes, with more than 180 full-color pages, along with a compelling introductory essay by Todd Wilkinson and insights on Dolack's work from contemporaries such as filmmaker Annick Smith, author Rick Bass, artist Jaune Quick-to-See Smith, and actor Jeff Bridges. The compilation also includes many of the artist's own insights on art making.

The Bayard Street Tightrope Walker

by Eduardo Chirinos
translated by G. J. Racz

This marvelous and enchanting new volume of poems by the late Peruvian poet, Eduardo Chirinos, who died in early 2016, invites the reader into a world that is simultaneously childlike and enchanted, but also philosophical and sensual. These poems suggest why Chirinos was the recipient of numerous literary prizes, and why he was regarded as one of Latin America's most important poets of the past thirty years.

Fond Recollections of Captivity

An Austrian POW in Wales

by Horst Jarka

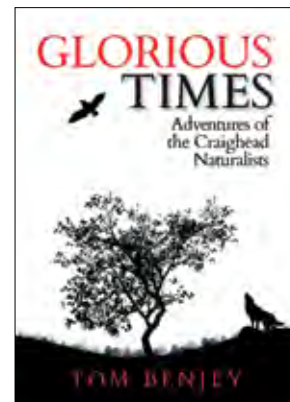

Captured on the Western Front at the end of World War II, Horst Jarka went from Nazi soldier to a prisoner of war in Wales. This collection of excerpts from the journal Jarka kept at the time, accompanied by his later reflections on the year he spent as a POW, offers a remarkable account of the treatment he received from his humane, literate, and critical-thinking Welsh custodians and a warm tribute to the profound and positive ways in which that experience transformed the course of his life and eventually lead him to Missoula where he spent 30 years as a professor of German Literature at the University of Montana.

Glorious Times

Adventures of the Craighead Naturalists

by Tom Benjey

Tells the fascinating and important story of an American clan of Scots-Irish that settled in the early 1700s in Pennsylvania. From this clan came an astonishing number of exceptional people, many of whom dedicated their lives to nature. It covers many generations, but appropriately focuses most attention on the famous siblings Frank Jr., John, and Jean (Craighead George).

Intimate West

Women Artists in Montana, 1880-1994

edited and with introductions
by Jeremy Canwell

foreword by Barbara Koostra

An exploration of the creativity of female painters and photographers who envisioned an American West characterized by immediate experience of time and place, this collection features women artists who lived or traveled in Montana in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries and contributed significantly to the aesthetic and cultural milieu of the West, often defying typical Western iconography. Intimate West: Women Artists in Montana 1880-1944 expands public awareness of women artists' role in shaping Montana's artistic heritage.

The Outlaw Wes Hardin
By Steppen Wirth

That few people are familiar with Texas outlaw John Wesley Hardin, while nearly everyone knows about Billy the Kid or Jesse James can be explained in one word: Hollywood. Yet Wes Hardin (as he was known) was widely considered the most lethal gunfighter of his time. His speed and skill with revolvers were phenomenal. His coolness and bravery under fire were legendary. He had no equal. Wes Hardin became the most wanted fugitive of his time. He eventually fled Texas and was later captured in Florida by Texas Rangers. Read the whole saga here!

WHO POOPED IN THE PARK? SERIES

OVER 500,000 SOLD

Michael, Emily, and their parents explore national parks and other sites around the country. Wildlife can be elusive, and both kids are disappointed when, at first, they don't encounter many animals. The kids quickly learn, however, that there are animals all around, and these creatures leave behind scat, tracks, and other sign. Colorful illustrations of animals and their scat and tracks, as well as a quick-reference chart, make field identification a breeze! For ages 5 to 10.

All books are written by Gary D. Robson and illustrated by Robert Rath unless otherwise noted.

50 Million Years of Whales

written and illustrated by Ted Rechlin

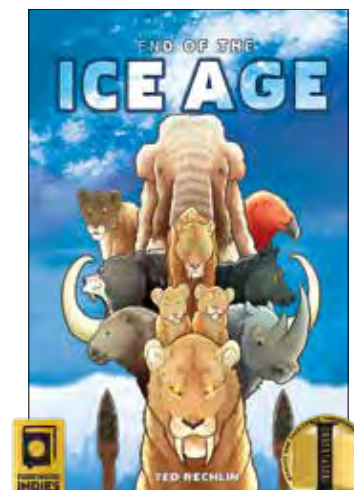

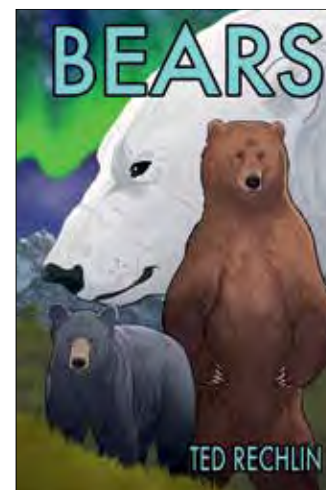

A dinosaur was the largest animal to exist on Earth, right? Wrong! The largest animal in Earth's 4.7-billion-year history exists today—the enormous Blue Whale that swims the oceans. Come along on an evolutionary journey of 50 million years as we learn other remarkable facts and follow the ancestors of today's cetaceans from the time they crawled out of the oceans and then back to become the magnificent beasts we admire in every ocean on our planet earth. The whales' journey has not been a smooth one, but it is a magnificent story.

Award-winning author and illustrator Ted Rechlin (Lions and Tigers, Sue, Jurassic) takes readers on this journey using his engaging and dynamic graphic-novel style to entertain and enlighten children of all ages.
