Anaconda's Melting Pot Cookbook

A Celebration of Anaconda Montana's Heritage & Cuisine
by the Anaconda Community Foundation

Immigrants flocked to Anaconda for work when Marcus Daly built the smelter in the late nineteenth century and settled together in neighborhoods where they retained their language, customs, celebrations and cuisine. Anaconda's Melting Pot Cookbook was created to honor and preserve that rich culinary heritage. These recipes evoke vivid memories of aromas drifting out of the kitchen and the people who prepared the dishes, and this book pays tribute to Anaconda's melting pot of cultures. All proceeds from the sale of the book support the Anaconda Community Foundation's mission. Learn more about their work at anacondacommunityfoundation.org.

NEW RELEASES FOR THE NORTHWEST

Idaho Madams

by Milana Marsenich

Fur, silver, and gold first lured men to Idaho Territory. Women soon followed. And what women they were! Molly B'Damn, Peg Leg Annie, Spanish Belle, Lou Beevers, Diamond Tooth Lil—the names alone promised excitement and intrigue.

Idaho Madams uncovers the enigmatic and salacious lives of 30 women who ran brothels in the Gem State from the 1850s to the 1980s. Here are the hedonistic and sometimes heroic exploits of Effie Rogan, Jennie Girard, Nettie Bowen, Ginger Murphy, Dixie Colton, and Dot Allen, but also the unsung sagas of Carrie Young, Grace Freeman, Willow Herman, Hattie Carlton, and many more. As told by author Milana Marsenich, the stories of these women come alive with voluptuous detail, historical photographs, and the social context of the times.

Horse Capture for Glory, Horse Thievery for Profit

by Michael Bugenstein

Stealing horses in the Wild West involved a great deal of risk and careful planning but offered lucrative monetary incentive. Lone desperados, tribal raids, and organized gangs living out west in the 1800s consequently took advantage of the weak territorial justice systems to line their pockets on the horse market with their stolen goods. Local solutions to the outlawry soon took shape, ranging from lone actors tracking down their stolen horses to the rise of organized vigilante gangs who lynched the thieves. Bugenstein details the influences of horses in the Americas, tracing the history of the animal from its earliest ancestors to its first introduction to the Americas and beyond. Ride along as he offers insight and intrigue into the iconic animal’s profound place in the politics, history, and cultures of the western United States.

And Hazel Hunkins, a brilliant chemist from Billings who picketed the White House to win the right for women to vote. Splendid Was The Trailby Kenneth D. Swan*

This classic memoir of the Forest Service's earliest days in the Northern Rockies, written by one of its first rangers, offers a return to the "Stetson hat era," when a ranger's gear never failed to include a hat, and his survival depended as much upon his horse's mood as a change in weather.

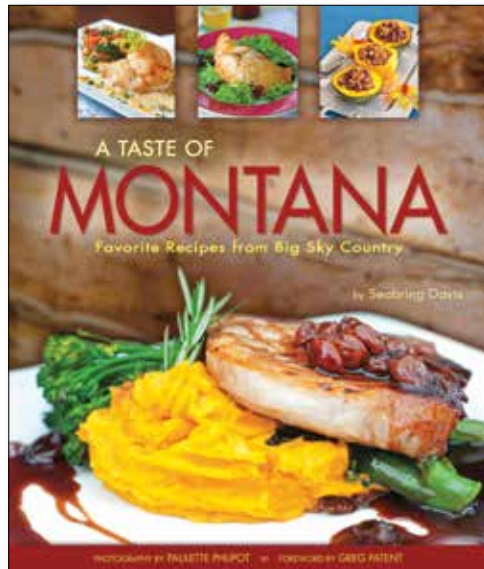

Kenneth Dupee Swan arrived in Missoula in the summer of 1911 with a brand new master's degree in forestry from Harvard University. He was one of the new professional foresters to join the U.S. Forest Service after the great forest fires of 1910 and he would go on to spend a career photographing the backcountry and working for its preservation. The story of his life in forestry, livened with vivid anecdotes, is brought to life through his personal recollections and his amazing early photographs, pictures carefully taken and painstakingly developed into works of art.

The celebration showcased the town's remarkable mix of cultures, with music and dancing in highly-embroidered Old World costumes, flower-bedecked parade floats, and international flags lining Broadway and strung high in the civic center itself. The event was such a success, it inspired the annual Festival of Nations, which ran for nearly seventy years. Relive the pageantry and revel in the ethnic diversity that made Red Lodge such a unique place to grow up in, to visit, and to remember.
